A new railway will be built between New York and Boston which will cost fifty million dollars.

Guiteau has started out on a new line of defense. He himself admits that he was insane on the 21 of July, but declares he is sane now.

The mayor of Port Huron, Michigan, makes an appeal for further help for the Michigan sufferers by the fire last fall. He says that $200,000 more is absolutely needed.

It strangely happens that there are no male descendants of the Sumner family. It is only represented by three views of the great Senator—the daughters of his sister, Mrs. Julia Hastings.

It is stated that the postoffice authorities at Washington are of the opinion that Postmaster Keyes, of Madison, cannot be a postmaster and a member of the Legislature at the same time.

Mr. Murphy, of the Sentinel, wants to test the question as to which is the most potent, pistols or the law. He will likely learn in due time that the investment in pistols proved a failure.

It is four thousand miles from St. Petersburg to the Jeannette, and it will require one month of fast traveling to reach the crew. Mr. Bennett has ordered an expedition to go to the Jeannette's rescue, paying all expenses out of his own pocket.

All that the New York Tribune can say of Postmaster General Howe, is that he is "an honest, amiable, lovable old man." So far this is good, but we think Judge Howe's management of the postoffice department will be such as will reflect credit on the Republican party.

The Milwaukee Republican and News thinks it did not pay to punch up Uncle Sam in regard to the five per cent. on the net proceeds of the sale of public lands due from the general government to Wisconsin, and thereby the little item of $237,685.16 coming to light.

The country was in hopes that at least one Republican who favored Garfield's nomination at Chicago, would "slip" into President Arthur's cabinet. When President Garfield appointed his cabinet, he selected four from the wing of the Republican party which nominated him, and three from the wing that opposed him.

Congressman Jones, of Texas, who, of course, is a Democrat, says that his State is ripe for a Bourbon revolt, and that if the Republicans would unite with the independent Democrats of that State, it could be carried by a large majority. It Texas should join Virginia in the revolt against Bourbonism, there will be some hope for Mississippi.

If we can believe the reports that come from Washington, Secretary of the Treasury Folger was quite dismayed when he felt the weight of social obligations imposed upon him. If he is inclined to work, and wants to attend to the duties of his office and thus make the social obligations become a secondary consideration, he will not be a popular member of the cabinet outside the President's official family. "Popular" members of the cabinet are usually those who can best pay the debt which the fashionable society of Washington demands.

Sometimes it takes but little money to turn one's head. A widow who worked in the shops at Bridgeport, Connecticut, lost her husband, on whose life there was some two or three thousand dollars insurance. She received the money in due time, and thought the best way to invest it would be in another husband. Accordingly she offered as an inducement to the man who would marry her, $50 and a gold watch and chain. There are many idlers who would not ask for a better opportunity than that to secure a home, some spending money and a gold watch and chain, and so a candidate for matrimonial honors was soon found. The bereaved widow was married the same day the reward was offered. It is not altogether improbable that what is left of her insurance money in two or three months she would gladly give to a lawyer to procure her a divorce.

The brightest expert the defense in the Guiteau case can bring will have hard work to find insanity in the head which produced this little speech to Judge Cox when the court opened on Friday. Guiteau, very calmly said: "It is said that I have been abusing Scoville. Now, the fact of the matter is, I want to make a speech about that. Scoville is doing very well in this case, considering his theory; but he is not a criminal lawyer. He can tell you all about your abstracts of titles. He is a good fellow, but I cannot have Scoville here compromising my case. There is no lawyer in this court room but knows he has asked questions for the defense which have been a positive injury to the defense. I cannot sit here when my life is at stake and have him compromise my case in this way. My friend, Charles H. Reed, who was for twelve years District Attorney at Chicago, and a first class lawyer, has very kindly consented to assume charge of this case, and I introduce him to your Honor. He is a good fellow. Scoville is a good fellow, too, and I want him to continue in the case and help in every way."

About twelve years ago a man named William E. Gray, a gift-tongued and well appearing man, secured $800,000 on Wall Street, New York, by means of forged and raised bonds. Before he could be arrested, he went to England, and owing to the expiration of the extradition treaty between Great Britain and the United States, could not be arrested. In 1870, however, the treaty was renewed, and Gray, the finely dressed forger and professional swindler, was brought to the United States for trial. He was tried, convicted, and sentenced to ten years at Sing Sing, but an appeal was taken, and after some delay Gray was granted a new trial, and pending this new trial he was admitted to bail. There are few men who engage in forgery and swindling as a profession who have more native cheek than William E. Gray. He no sooner gained his liberty, than he went to work to organize what he called the United Globe Electric Light company. He put the capital stock at six million dollars and strangely took the names of some of the most influential and wealthy men in New York to his list of supporters. He got along so far with his colossal scheme as to secure a great amount of money, before it became known that the promoter of this wonderfully attempting and dazzling financial operation was none other than Gray, the notorious forger. He has been again arrested, and the United Globe Electric Light company has of course collapsed.

George Alfred Townsend gives a brief history of the administrations of the Presidents in which he says: The history of American Presidents prior to Mr. Lincoln was a very dull history. Washington was the world's hero years before he became our Chief Magistrate. Adams had played his principal act long before he became President. Jefferson had accomplished his dramatic work in the Declaration of Independence twenty-five years before he was President, and had altered Virginia from an aristocratic State to a Republican Commonwealth, which was about the most important act he ever did, long before he was either Secretary of State, Foreign Minister, or President. Only two things stand out in Jefferson's Presidential career—the purchase of Louisiana and the sending out Lewis and Clark's expedition. Johnson's administration, after Lincoln's death, was a combination of John Tyler and Millard Fillmore replayed. Grant's administration was Monroe's resumed—the laying of bricks and public edifices, with considerable obstinacy in the mortar. Hayes' administration was the coming of Robert Raikes, with his Sunday school book under his arm, and entire forgetfulness of the wicked star route man. All of Garfield's administration that we know of is his death—another terrible sobber, which some men have weariied to talk about, but which the multitude will not forget to their dying day.

President Arthur has adopted a new order of things at the White House which will meet with the approval of all sensible people throughout the country. For many years it has been the custom to admit anybody and everybody at the White House almost at all times, so that some days there would be as many as two or three hundred people about the executive mansion waiting to be admitted into the presence of the President for no other purpose than to satisfy a curiosity to see him and to shake hands with him. This kind of sociability and generosity on the part of the Presidents greatly intrude upon their time and very greatly interfere with the dispatch of executive business. The rule which President Arthur has established is that there shall be no more general handshaking at the White House. No stranger will be admitted until he has stated his business to his private secretary, and very few persons will be allowed even the privilege of ascending the great stairway and take their places in the waiting room. When there used to be crowds flock to the White House to see Lincoln, that great man, who stood higher than the proudest potentate on the earth, would go among them and give the common people a hearty shake of the hand; and last spring, when the anti-rooms of the President's mansion were crowded with hundreds of anxious people, Garfield, the good soul, would leave the executive room and join the throng and shake hands all around. This takes time, and as a usual thing is not the best way to do, and therefore President Arthur has adopted a better plan.

PERSONAL NOTES.
Mrs. Keifer, the wife of the Speaker of the House of Representatives, disdains all bangs, crimps and frizzes, and wears her dark brown hair as does Mrs. President Hayes, parted in the middle and smoothed down plainly on each side.
The Rev. Dr. J. P. Newman, formerly pastor of the Metropolitan Methodist church of Washington, is to become pastor of the Congregational church in New York which was founded by Rev. Dr. Hepworth. General Grant and other Methodists will follow him into that church, and it is expected that money will be raised to defray the debt of $80,000 now resting upon it. Dr. Newman is one of the most eloquent pulpit orators of the day, and will build up any church in which he preaches.
Miss Annie Louise Cary, the greatest living American contralto, writes weekly letters to her step mother and sister in the town of Durham, in Maine. She occasionally alludes to her approaching marriage with James Lorillard, in New York. The wedding will occur early next fall. The last time she will sing in public will be in June next, at City Hall, Portland. The age of Annie Louise is 41 years, and that of the bridegroom-elect 35. They will reside in New York. A Durham gentleman, who was one of Miss Cary's neighbors and schoolmates, said recently: "There wasn't a boy or girl in the whole school that could climb a tree or jump over a fence so well as Annie Louise. Bareheaded and bare-shouldered, she once took a wild coil to break, and he ran with her to the border of Auburn before she stopped him. She came back laughing."

A portrait of President Garfield painted on porcelain by Harry Sturm, of Dresden, has been sent from Germany as a Christmas gift for Mrs. Garfield.

PIILING ON THE PROOF.

Of the Assassin's Sanity and Responsibility.

WASHINGTON, D. C., December 23.—Two more experts, summoned by the defense and placed on the stand by the government, testified to-day in the gloomy old court room that Guiteau is sane and responsible, and was sane and responsible on the day he shot the President. Dr. Spencer H. Talbot, superintendent of an asylum for the insane at Middletown, N. Y., and Dr. Henry B. Stearns, superintendent of the Hartford Institute for the insane at Hartford, Conn., testified that after careful personal examination at the jail and careful personal observation in the court room, they had reached the conclusion that he was sane and responsible, and in reply to the hypothetical questions of the prosecution, said they believed him to have been perfectly sane and responsible on the 21 of July. Before cross-examination did not affect the testimony of either. The prisoner saw as every one else did, what holes were rained in the fabric of his case by such a broadside, and endeavored frequently to break its force. The experts, he said, testified for here; they knew nothing about his mind anyhow; he would not give a snap of his finger for the testimony of 500 experts. As a last desperate resort he said: "The Lord will protect me. He will see that I get justice. It may take an act of God to do it. One of the jurors may have to be taken off the panel. The wife of one of them, I am sorry to say, has died. It was a very sad occurrence, but another juror may have to be taken off by an act of God before I get justice. But He'll see that I get it."

One other witness was examined to-day. William A. Edwards, a clerk from New York, a nervous, diffident man, easily confused, who in the hands of Charley Reed, turned out to be one of the most entertaining witnesses put on the stand since Oliver Garney testified. Corbitt saw, as soon as the cross-examination began, that he had landed in being Edwards on the stand. Before Reed took the witness with him he made him admit, without explanation, that D. McLean Shaw, whose clerk he was and whose testimony he was called to corroborate, had been indicted and tried for perjury; that Shaw swore falsely when he said, in detailing the conversation in his office ten years ago, wherein Guiteau said he proposed to win notoriety if he had to imitate Wilkes Booth, that Guiteau and he were alone; that neither Shaw or himself attached any importance to the assertion of Guiteau, and that both of them considered him "strange." Edwards spent the rest of the day in explaining to Shaw, as they walked up and down Pennsylvania avenue, how he came, in his confusion and excitement, to make such damaging admissions.

CONTESTED SEATS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—There are enough members of the committee on elections of the House remaining in the city during the recess to form a quorum, and meetings will be held, and sub-committees selected and put to work at once. The cases selected for immediate action are those of Lynch vs. Chalmers, of Mississippi; Lowe vs. Wheeler, of Alabama; Mackey vs. Dibble, Second District, and Small vs. Tiltman, Fifth District of South Carolina. These have been taken as representing the strongest cases for contestants, and there is little hesitation exhibited by the Republican members in predicting that very prompt action be taken upon them favorable to the contestants. Mr. Calkins, chairman of the committee, said to-night he thought a report would be made by the second week in January on these cases.

SHOCKINGLY MUTILATED.

LA CROSSE, Dec. 23.—This afternoon a young man by the name of Collins, living near Waukau, Iowa, while trying to board a freight train on the Chicago & Dubuque railway, near La Crosse, fell between the cars, and both legs were taken off just below the knees. He has been employed laying track for the company. Fully three hours elapsed before aid could be furnished him, and he is now in this city, with recovery doubtful.

TRESPASSING.

MADISON, Wis., Dec. 23.—An important suit has been in progress in the United States district court here for two weeks past, involving the trespass case of H. B. Mills, of Milston, in this case the charge being that the defendant had cut timber on a number of government forests near Milston. Eminent counsel have been engaged both for the government and the defendant. Lieutenant Governor J. M. Bingham assisted United States District Attorney Lewis, the defendant being represented by Vilas and Bryant, of this city, and J. M. Morrow, of Sparta. The case was given to the jury last night, they returning a verdict to-day of $2,000 and costs, amounting in all to $2,500. On most of the subdivisions charged as being trespassed upon the jury found the defendant guilty on some of them by an act of Congress allowing trespassers to enter lands trespassed upon prior to 1878. Under the instructions of the court, the defendant, having entered upon them after the trespass, which was the most valuable part of the land, was found guilty of trespassing on some of them by an act of Congress allowing trespassers to enter lands trespassed upon prior to 1878. Under the instructions of the court, the defendant, having entered upon them after the trespass, which was the most valuable part of the land, was found guilty of trespassing on some of them by an act of Congress allowing trespassers to enter lands trespassed upon prior to 1878. Despoiled.
By the unthinking, Burdock has been considered a weed, and its luxuriant growth, unpleasant smell, etc., has rendered it, to those "not knowing its virtues," a nuisance, and yet the root has long been acknowledged by savants as most diuretic, aperient and blood purifying. BURDOCK BROOM BITTERS embody all its good qualities. Price $1.00 trial size 10 cents. Sold by A. J. Roberts, and F. Sherer & Co.

A LOAD OF SHOT.

BALTIMORE, Md., December 23.—Information was received here to-day of a tragedy near Winchester Mill, Carroll county, Md. Andrew Pfonsch, the murderer, is a German basketmaker, and his victim, Jacob Lockman. Immediately after the murder, Pfonsch surrounded himself to the authorities at Westminster, Md., declaring that he had shot and killed a man and wanted to go to jail. He then stated that he had killed one of his neighbors by the name of Jacob Lockman. Lockman's son passed his house on the way to school, and Pfonsch said he had been in the habit of throwing stones at him and taunting him. This morning Lockman and the boy came by together, and both threw stones. He remonstrated with them, when Lockman picked up a large stone and came toward him in a threatening manner. Pfonsch then got his gun, and as Lockman still advanced toward him, fired the load of shot, striking him in the abdomen, and killing him instantly. Pfonsch was committed to jail to await the result of the coroner's inquest.

MISS REYNOLDS.

DUBLIN, Dec. 23.—At Castleton to-day Miss Reynolds, charged with aiding and abetting criminal conspiracy to prevent the payment of rent, was ordered either to find bail to keep the peace six months or undergo a month's imprisonment. She refused to give bail, and went to jail.

Brief and to the Point.

A lady resident of Milwaukee visited one of our prominent families, bringing with her a pair of twin sons, of whom she is very proud, both being handsome, sprightly and precocious little fellows in a degree that would excite the pride of any fond and appreciative mother. A short time ago a gentleman sent, as a gift to the lady, a pair of "Colorado jacks," which, of course, tickled their boyish fancies immensely after they had learned the important lesson of non-interference with the business end of the animals. One of the boys had been giving a lady caller a glowing description of the pets, which led to the query: "Are your jacks gentle, Frank?" "Well, yes, ma'am," said Frank. "They are awful tame in front, but you bet they're awful wild behind."—Dubuque Herald.

On the Blue Danube.

A correspondent, describing a trip down the Danube in Austria, says: "The floating grain mills on the Danube are its most curious feature. Two or three small boats moored parallel to each other in mid-river, about fifteen or twenty feet apart, and supporting between them the crank of a gigantic mill-wheel, turned by the current of the stream. Fancy, moreover, the sides of one of these boats carried up one story higher than the other, then roofed over a la Noah's ark, with windows and doors as needed, and you will have a fair idea of these Danube grain mills, some four or five thousand of which, in groups of ten or twelve together, are scattered along this watery highway all the way from Vienna to Belgrade. Each mill is inscribed with its owner's name."

A POPULAR TONIC.

For Weak Lungs and Consumption. No preparation ever introduced to the American public for the relief and cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throats, Inflamed Bronchitis, Weakness of the Lungs, or Consumption in the incipient or advanced stages of the disease, has ever met with the indorsement of physicians or patients as the celebrated "Tolu, Rock and Rye." The repeated and continued sale of the article over where are the best evidence of its real merits. Letters and testimonials from every quarter of the country, attesting the stimulating, refreshing and healing effects, are in possession of the proprietors, and can be adduced to convince the most skeptical reader of its intrinsic virtues. Further commendation is unnecessary and superfluous, as a trial of this article, having pleasant taste and agreeable flavor, will satisfy all those who are afflicted or pining away with pulmonary weakness of the relief to be secured by the use of Tolu, Rock and Rye. —Chicago, Dec. 24, 1881.

It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. THE GAZETTE'S CHRISTMAS.

In order that all connected with the Gazette may have an opportunity for taking their full share in the due observance of Christmas, there will be no paper issued from this office on Monday. The Gazette extends its heartiest wishes for a "merry Christmas" to each of its many readers and patrons.

BRIEFLETS.

—Merry Christmas to all.

—The days will lengthen out a whole minute next week.

□—Man stuffs the turkey, and the turkey stuffs the man.

—Hang up the baby's stocking, be sure you don't forget."

—The Post-office hours on Monday, December 26th, will be from 6 to 10 a. m., and from 2 to 4 p. m.

—Remember the auction sale of household furniture at the residence of R. L. Colvin on Thursday Dec. 28th.

—Six homeless wanderers were cared for at the jail last night. They are becoming quite numerous in these parts now.

—George Chaffield, charged with burglarizing Oscar Howe's tobacco warehouse, will have his examination before Judge Patton next Tuesday morning.

—The towns of Bradford and Milton came forward with their State taxes yesterday afternoon, and the town of Harmony paid over its share this morning.

—St. Mary's church fair caused Apollo hall to be packed almost to overflowing last night. To-night all the polls close, and Monday night a dance is to be the finale.

—The St. Patrick's T. A. & B. Society promise a good time for all, at their ball in Apollo hall, Monday evening, January 2d, 1882. Anderson's band will furnish lively music. Those wishing a good time, should give the society a call.

—The Guards and the Rifles are to meet at their respective armories to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock, in full dress uniform, and march to Trinity church, to attend the service arranged for them by their Battalion chaplain, Rev. T. W. MacLean.

—Haverly's great "Widow Bedott" company is to appear in Janesville, at Myers' Opera house, on the evening of the 7th of January. "Widow Bedott" created a furore in Chicago, and had a long and successful season there. It will no doubt draw heavily here also.

—Frank L. Tappin, the taxidermist, now located in Minneapolis, has sent Dr. S. S. Judd a deer's head, prepared and mounted for a wall ornament. It is one of the best we have ever seen, and it is no wonder that the doctor has placed it with pride in a conspicuous place in his office.

—The dance given last evening at Cannon's hall by Washington Engine company No. 1, was an immense success, and proved a heartily enjoyable occasion. The attendance was large, every detail of arrangements was carefully looked after so that all moved off pleasantly and joyously.

—The friends of the several candidates for prizes at St. Mary's fair should bear in mind that the voting at the polls closes this evening as follows: For the gold watch at 9:30 o'clock; for the gold chain and cross, at 10:15 o'clock; for the fireman's badge at 11 o'clock. All should cast their votes in time.

—Beloit has a "black list" on which appear the names of those to whom the council forbid any one to sell liquor, because of habits of drunkenness. John Doyle's name has in some way gotten on the list, and the other day he applied to Attorney J. W. Sale here to commence suit against the city for $2,000 damages.

—The contest over the sword last night at St. Mary's fair, was as peaceful as the Eau Claire war last summer, and less expensive. The Rifles were ready to give battle, but as no enemy showed itself, there was no battle. The arms, i. e. greenbacks, went back into the wallet again, and all was pleasure and joy.

—There was music in the air last night. Simon's Hussar band was playing in the street to draw attention to the show in the Opera house. Thoroughgood's band was giving enticing notice to advertise St. Mary's church fair, and the Bower City band was rehearsing so enthusiastically in its rooms as to be heard for quite a distance. It is rather late in the year for outdoor concerts, but the crop last night was a heavy one, and thrifty.

—Simon's comedy company presented Rip Van Winkle last night in a very creditable manner. The audience was small, and the company decided to close its engagement here with last night's performance, and proceed to Broadhead, and to Monroe where they will remain next week. The company gave very good entertainments for the prices asked, and really merited better houses than they secured here, but the city is so full of Christmas doings that the attention of the people is taken up with other matters besides the ordinary run of Opera house entertainments.

—A young fellow named Barrett was lodged at the jail last night having no other place to stop. His story was that his home was in Troy, New York, where he worked as a stove-mounter in one of the factories. He came on to Chicago, and worked in a branch factory there, but met with an accident by which he got a lot of emery in his eyes, forcing him to stop work for two weeks or more, and he thus lost his situation. He had an uncle living near Monroe and was trying to reach there, having walked most of the distance from Chicago. He was allowed to walk on this morning.

—Mrs. Shaw, of this city, who had such an experience with masked burglars the other night while visiting near Chicago, was the guest of Mrs. George T. Abbey, at Norwood Park, instead of the guest of William Stead. The gang who visited the latter place are supposed to be the same as visited Mrs. Abbey's residence. It appears that while three masked burglars were ransacking one of the rooms, Mrs.

Shaw who was sleeping in a room on the floor above, was awakened. She raised a window and began ringing a bell to attract the attention of neighbors. While so engaged two shots were fired at her by a man who was on guard outside, and she dropped the window, and looked herself in her room. The burglars forced the door open, and took from her $50 in cash and her jewelry. The other members of the household were also made to deliver up their cash and valuables.

Palpitation of the Heart.

J. M. Wright, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "When I first commenced using your BUBBOK BLOOD PURIFIERS I was troubled with fluttering and palpitation of the heart. I felt weak and languid, with a numbness of the limbs; since using my heart has not troubled me and the numbing sensation is all gone." Price $1.00, trial size 10 cents.

For sale by A. J. Roberts and Sheer & Co.

BOTCHED WITH BURGLARS.

Two Places Entered by Thieves Last Night, But Little Taken—The Memphis do Better at Beloit.

Last night some one pried open a window in Skelley's shop in the First ward, and thus effecting an entrance, stole a number of carpenter's tools, but no great amount or of great value. From there the thieves seemed to have gone to the lumber office of Fidelity & Bro., and gained an entrance there by the same mode of forcing up a window. The safe in the office was not locked, so the thieves had no difficulty in getting at its contents. They ransacked with little success, however, as they secured only two or three dollars in cash, that being in pennies and nickels, which had been left there as being too cumbersome to carry home. The change was not too cumbersome for the thieves, however, and will serve them for beer money for a day or so very conveniently.

Burglars made a more successful raid on Calvert's store at Beloit Thursday evening, while the proprietor was gone to supper. They forced open a rear window, and succeeded in getting away with about $100 worth of goods, including a number of revolvers. This is said to be the thirteenth time this store has been burglarized, and fellows have evidently got so in the habit now of robbing it that nothing but a torn at Waupun will break them of it. As they have not been caught yet, there is no immediate danger of their getting any such chance to swear off.

THE WEATHER.

REPORTED BY PRENTICE & EVENSON, DRUGGISTS.

The thermometer at 6 o'clock last night stood at 33 degrees above zero; at 1 o'clock a. m., at 29 degrees above; at 7 o'clock a. m. at 23 degrees above, and at 1 o'clock p. m. at 40 degrees above. Clear.

The indications to-day are, warmer, fair weather, winds mostly southerly, and lower pressure.

COMING NEXT SATURDAY.

On next Saturday evening, December 31st, O. S. Smith's Double Mammoth Uncle Tom's Cabin company, with Sam Lucas, the famous colored comedian and singer as Uncle Tom, will appear in this city in Lappin's hall. The mammoth company has some thirty people—two Topsy's, two Marks, two Donkeys and a large number of jubilee singers. The company played to "standing room only," last week, at the Academy of Music, Chicago, and over $2,000 was turned away during the week. The company has turned people away in nearly every city in the West, including Milwaukee, Elgin, Aurora, Rockford, Joliet, and Chicago. The company open for a week in the Olympic theatre, Chicago, on Monday, January 2d, and jump a long distance to keep faith with the Janesville public, having announced their coming before. The company is gaining golden opinions everywhere.

The Milwaukee Daily Wisconsin says: "C. H. Smith's Great Double 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' company opened a five nights' engagement at the Academy of Music yesterday afternoon, to one of the largest houses of the season, hundreds being turned away at the entrance, and the house being crowded in the evening. It's the best representation of this moral drama ever given here.

Sam Lucas, in his specialties, is worth the price of admission alone. His acting of Uncle Tom is the best conception of that 'good old darkey' we know of. The 'Topsy' is a novelty, and brings down the house every time they come on the stage."
